5. PROBLEMS WITH AIRDROPS TO GAZA

People in Gaza need help. Some help comes from planes. Planes drop food and other things to people on the ground. This way of helping is called airdrops.

But airdrops are difficult. It can happen that they hurt or even kill people. Also, someone must deal with the help on the ground. Such help is very expensive, too. But countries still do it. They want to show that they care.

The UN says that airdrops will not stop hunger for 500,000 people. To solve the problem, we need peace and better ways to send help.

5. FARMERS IN EUROPE PROTEST

European Commission wants to change farming in Europe.

This happens because many farmers in Europe are unhappy. They protest. The protests happen in Spain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium, and other countries. Farmers do not like EU rules about climate change, imports, and costs. The changes would give farmers more freedom and less control from governments.

The Commission says that the changes are fair to farmers. They help them work better. President Ursula von der Leyen says these ideas come from talking to farmers, leaders, and other important people.

5. SAVING THE PANAMA CANAL

The Panama Canal connects two oceans, the Atlantic and the Pacific Ocean. In 1913, workers must flood Lake Gatun to make the canal.

The canal is very important for global trade. Big ships go through the canal. The canal makes the way much shorter. But there is a problem – not enough rain. This year, the canal has very low water. You can even see trees in the water. It is not usual. This makes it hard for ships to pass. They have to go around Africa or Egypt. It takes more time and money.

This problem will get worse because Central America will have even less rain in the future. Experts do not know how to solve it or if it is even possible.

TRACCIA 4

5. METRO TICKETS TO COST MORE DURING THE OLYMPICS

During the 2024 Olympics, Paris metro tickets will cost more. They will cost almost twice as much money as they do now.

Parisians with passes will not pay extra. But visitors will pay a fair price, officials say. A new pass, the Paris 2024 pass, will cost 16 euros per day and up to 70 euros per week for visitors. The president wants to make sure residents do not pay more. The mayor is worried about transport, but the president says that Paris is ready.

It is important for Parisians not to have problems with public transport during the Games. The president thinks that visitors should pay for public services, not Parisians.
